Audrey was born at the “Bungalow”, part of the Telegraph Station in Alice Springs, not long before the people from the Bungalow were moved to the new location of Amoonguna. As a youngster she went to school at Santa Teresa and enjoyed singing in the choir at the Church, before moving to Yuendumu to live with her mother. She moved back to Amoonguna and completed her schooling at Yurara College. After marriage Audrey moved to Fregon and worked as a Health Worker for 15 years. She has taught at Mimili and Fregon as well as working in the Arts sector. One of Audrey’s paintings won an Art Competition and she traveled to Paris as part of this.
